Halsey's Fleet Is Eliminating Jap Sea Power

Third Huge Smash By Carrier Planes Completing Ruin Of Jap Fleet Remnants

AT LEAST 25 JAP WARSHIPS WRECKED (BULLETIN)

GUAM, July 28.—(INS)—The Japanese battleship Hyuga was reported sunk today and five other enemy warships were burning or sinking shortly after Third Fleet carrier planes resumed assaults at dawn throughout Japan's inland sea area.

By JOHN R. HENRY
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GUAM, July 28.—The Japanese battleship Hyuga was reported definitely sunk today and the toll of enemy merchant shipping was steadily mounting with Third Fleet carrier planes hammering the inland sea area against increasing Jap air opposition.

Adm. William F. Halsey's American and British airmen, emphasizing the "no delay" terms of the truce-power surrender ultimatum, soared into the enemy's skies at dawn to complete the job of eliminating Jap sea power from the war.

Huge Battleship Sunk

International News Service War Correspondent Julian Hart, attached to Adm. William F. Halsey's Third Fleet, reported that flattop fliers observed the 32,000-ton Hyuga listing on the bottom with deck resting on the Kure naval base.

At least 25 other Japanese warships lay in various degrees of wrecks in adjacent waters as Halsey's airmen took to the skies for the third time in less than four days to "sink the rest of the Jap navy."

Halsey struck again in great strength further to convince the Japanese of the futility of their position and to give devastating emphasis to the unconditional sur-

Churchill's Defeat Marks Beginning Of After War Reactions

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIGE
(Written Exclusively for U. S. S.)

The elimination of Britain's Winston Churchill from the United Nations high command through his overwhelming defeat at the polls by the Labor party constitutes the most important event of the war since Europe's V-Day.

VE-Day marked the end of the war in Europe. Churchill's defeat at the hands of Britain's electorate marks the beginning in the British Isles of the reaction that will follow this war as inevitably as it has followed all other great conflicts in history.

Astonishing is the speed with which opinion in a democracy can change and the celerity with which the heroes of the public can be cast aside and forgotten.

KURE NAVAL BASE IS BADLY WRECKED

By JULIAN HARTT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ABOARD ADM. MCCAIN'S FLAGSHIP OCEAN JAPAN, July 28.—Carrier airmen swept on to land their destruction today on the battered remnants of the Jap fleet and ridge enemy planes on the ground and in the air.

Victory was everywhere for pilots striking in the Inland Sea area and across Honshu to north coast skies for the third time this week.

Destroy 13 Jap Planes In Air

Nineteen Jap interceptors were encountered near Shimonoseki strait and 13 were destroyed in the air without loss to our side. Scores of other enemy aircraft were destroyed or damaged in the first hours today.

Two warships anchored close together were observed burning from stem to stern after the early assault launched from Vice Adm. John S. McCain's flattops.

Military personnel, varying in rank from admirals and generals to bluejackets and privates, all express hope that the end of the war is at hand.

But many of those interviewed by this correspondent appeared unswayed by recent peace rumors, or even by the allied ultimatum.

All are prepared to fight through to the finish.

Possible Alternatives

Informed persons point out two possible alternatives.

They are:

1. That recent developments on the battlefield will crystallize the futility of the Japanese position and that both the powers and populace of Japan will seek to save what's left of their empire by surrender with a few weeks or months to go.

2. That the Japanese will pursue

Naval Bombarding Of Japan Resumed

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, July 28.—(INS)—New Delhi radio reported today that British and American warships opened up with a new naval bombardment of Japanese homeland targets early this morning.

The broadcast, picked up by BBC, said the bombardment was carried out in darkness under cover by heavy rain.

The broadcast said that a British carrier task force, accompanied by U. S. navy ships, went into action with more than 1,000 aircraft assaulting Jap airfields and enemy installations.

The transmission reported that scores of enemy planes were destroyed on the ground in the massive attack.

Mrs. White, 25, was reported to have left the children in the care of Barbara Dinchler, a 14-year-old neighbor girl, and asked the girl to heat some water on the oil stove while she went out to do some shopping. The mother returned home shortly after the foot of a ladder as firemen hauled down the lifeless bodies of two of the children.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., July 28.—(INS)—Four small children were dead today after a fire, caused by an exploding oil stove, swept through their home at Williamsport.

The dead, all children of Mrs. Sandra, six; Mildred, five; Robert, three; and Carol, one. Their father, who served in Europe with the 28th division, was reported en route home.

Business Girls Of Y. W. C. A. Plan For Camp Conference

Program planning committee for the Y. W. C. A. setting up conference to be held at Camp East Brooks on August 23-26 will meet Wednesday, August 1, at 7:30 at the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Helen Hazen, president of the Tri-Circle, is chairman of the planning committee with Miss Ruth Jamison of the Blue Triangle club and Mrs. Marjorie Headland of the Junior Business Girls club together with Miss Emily Rice, department chairman, and the presidents of the other two girls' clubs, Miss Katherine Shaffer of the Blue Triangle and Miss Marjorie Brooks of the Junior Business Girls, as members of the committee.

Miss Hazen attended the national Y. W. C. A. business girls' conference at Slippery Rock recently. The committee will plan the program for the setting up conference around some of the numerous suggestions for programs made at that conference. The program will center around the theme "Developing Leadership Within Business Girls' Clubs."

the triumphant allies after the greatest series of victories in world history. Mr. Churchill's popularity was at its height.

On all sides in London, Britain's war premier was being hailed as an indispensable man. Predictions were freely hazarded that his government would be retained in office until the Japanese conflict had been terminated and peace established on an enduring basis.

Reversal Unexpected

Now, with victory over Germany only just completed, the British public has repudiated the architect of its triumph in one of the most astonishing upsets in history. Such reactions have come after most of the world's great wars, but never before has the reversal of form occurred so quickly.

Mr. Churchill's defeat and elimination from office by the British electorate may be traced to many causes. Probably the greatest of these is the war's earliness, which inevitably afflicts the population of a democracy after a great international conflict.

Britain at present has more reason for war-weariness than ever before in her history. For nearly six years her people have been subject to rationing, hardships and meddlesome government regulations of all descriptions.

For the first time since the Norman conquest, British citizens have been killed in their tight little isle by enemy action. One out of every four houses in London has been reported as destroyed by air bombardment or by Nazi buzz-bombs. It is little wonder that Britons want to get rid of everything that reminds them of Europe's great war.

That is a habit of democracies and war leaders through history have been quick to go after the passing of the emergency that brought them forth.

The London radio, heard by NBC radio contingents of American, British and French troops arrived in Vienna yesterday.

As in Berlin, the occupation of the Austrian capital will be shared by U. S. French, British and Russian troops. Approximately 5,000 American soldiers are expected to patrol the American zone.

their belief in their own supremacy until the bitter end after enemy leaders spurn the tri-power peace plan.

To this second (and most prevalent) opinion observers add the belief that once determined upon such a course the Japanese will await the coming invasion.

After major battles they would then withdraw to rugged, cave-cluttered mountain regions of Nippon where they may be able to hold out as long as two years.

the overall results will furnish armchair debaters with their greatest stockpile of mental ammunition since the air-power vs. surface-power argument first began.

Returning to the Kure area after two days of action, McCann's pilots "found the weather on our side for a change," according to Commander Wallace Sherill of West Newton, Mass.

"We came in over the cloud cover, dropped through and started dives from 12,000 feet," he said. "And we didn't drop our bombs until we hit about 3,000 feet," said Lt. Cmdr. Eddie Wedell, skipper of a Toledo plane squadron. "It was perfect."

Returning American airmen who cascaded bombs, rockets and machine-gun bullets over Miho straits and nearby Yonago afield, said enemy fighters were sparse and weak.

the trial in a crowded and stuffy courtroom of the Palace of Justice where Marie Antoinette pleaded vainly for her life enters in its sixth day today with only a few state witnesses still to testify.

Testimony during the first week of France's most important political trial since the bloody days of the revolution and the guillotine has confined largely to a re-enactment of events in France preceding Petain's assumption of power.

More dramatic developments are expected when defense witnesses for the 89-year-old former Vichy chief of state are cross-examined by Andre Morin, French prosecutor who in World War I secured the conviction of the notorious Mata Hari.

Garden Notes

Certain plants such as cabbage and rutabaga can stand frosty weather, while others, such as potatoes, onions and beans must be harvested before frost hits them.

Do not neglect to spray the late crops which are still subject to blight or mildew, such as potatoes and celery.

Green tomatoes which have been picked before a frost, carefully handled and kept in a cool environment can be ripened by placing them in a sunny window.

Vegetables or fruits intended for storage should be sound and not over-ripe.

A late crop of spinach can be taken from the end of August until the middle of September. Spinach is at its best when grown in rich soil during cool weather.

Now is the time to keep the weeds from growing in or near the victory garden.

Finish Off Fleet

Clear weather favored the third assault in less than a week on inland sea targets. Halsey's men were out primarily to finish off some 25 warships among the 265 Japanese vessels destroyed or damaged in the same region Tuesday and Wednesday.

In addition to 25 warships hit by bombs, rockets or torpedoes, 190 non-combatant vessels of all kinds were sunk or damaged. Nimitz disclosed in this morning's communiqué.

The Jap air force likewise suffered heavily with 287 planes of its diminishing hoard of aircraft being destroyed or damaged.

Huge Damage Done

Six Japanese planes that sought to attack Third Fleet units were shot down and 15 more were knocked out of the skies over target areas on the sprawling Inland sea.

In a revised list of results achieved by Halsey's July 24-25 air strikes, Nimitz disclosed that 153 Jap aircraft were destroyed.

In the same two-day period, 25 Nipponese warships, including three battleships, six aircraft carriers and five cruisers, were battered by bombs and torpedoes.

Third Fleet losses for the two-day aerial assault—one of the most devastating periods of Japan's maritime and navy history—totaled 82 aircraft, 42 of which were American. Forty U. S. pilots and aircrewmen were lost.

Nimitz announced results of the first two attacks while the third was in progress this morning.

MARY L. KIRKPATRICK WEDS AT VANDERGRIFT

Wedding news of interest here is that of Miss Mary Louise Kirkpatrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross H. Kirkpatrick of Blairton, and Pte. Wilbur F. Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer F. Leonard of 108 Summer avenue, Vandergrift. The ceremony was solemnized on July 25 in the First Presbyterian church of Vandergrift at 2:30 o'clock in the presence of relatives and friends of the couple. Rev. Richard K. Kennedy, pastor of Vandergrift United Presbyterian church who attended Westminster college, officiated. Assisting was the Rev. W. Clyde Barnes, pastor, and organist who contributed the musical program of music was Mrs. Edward S. Poole.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white tulie gown with heart-shaped neckline, long full sleeves and skirt lining in train. Her fingertip veil of tulie was held with a matching headress made in flower effect. A bridal spray of white cala lilies formed her arm bouquet. She carried a handkerchief made from her mother's wedding gown, and wore in her shoe a sixpence sent her by the bridegroom's brother, Arnold Leonard, S. 2-c, now in the Pacific from England.

Mr. Richard K. Kennedy, senior sister of the bride, members of Beta Sigma Omicron sorority at Westminster college, was asked to matron of honor. She selected a pink floor length creation made with eyelid bodice and full skirt. Adorning her head were fresh flowers and she carried pink roses and delphinium and baby's breath.

First Lieut. Dale E. Brown, of Miami, Fla., formerly of Vandergrift, a brother of the groom, who recently returned from overseas duty, served as best man. The congratulatory period was preceded by a reception at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brugger. Aiding Mrs. Brugger were Alfreda Brugger, a daughter, Mrs. Arnold Downs, sister of the bride and Mrs. LeRoss Moffett all of Beaver Falls.

The newlyweds left for a short trip afterwards, and upon their return, will take up temporary residence at 3405 Foxworth avenue, College Hill, Beaver Falls, pending re-assignment of the groom. He leaves the first week of August for a designated post. Mrs. Lorkert was employed in the offices of Western Union, Cpl. Lorkert was associated with Ingram Richardson Co. of Beaver Falls, prior to entering U. S. Service.

The bride was graduated from New Castle High and Westminster college. She also served as assistant organist at the First Presbyterian church of this city prior to her family moving to Vandergrift three years ago. She is now a piano instructor and organist at the First Presbyterian church at Vandergrift. The bridegroom graduated from Vandergrift High and enlisted in service October 28, 1942. He was sent overseas December 13, 1943 and several days ago returned to New port News, Va. from Italy. He will conclude a 30-day furlough August 21 when he reports to Cleland Field, Sacramento, Calif.

PERSONAL MENTION

Misses Mary Louise Eddy of Milton street and Olive Van Horn of Butz street spent Thursday in Pittsburgh.

Robert Naylor of Walmo is a guest of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Fitzpatrick of Baldwin, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Neiman of East Grant street have returned after spending two weeks vacation along Lake Erie.

Miss Agatha Flynn of Cleveland, has returned home after a two months' visit in New Castle as the houseguest of Ruth Fisher of Croton avenue.

Donald Copson of Leisure avenue is visiting his brother, Fred Copson and family of Belfast, Me. He will be joined there by his son, David, who leaves Monday for a two weeks visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smilroski of Lee avenue have returned from Springfield after visiting with latter's father, Watkins Hughes, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold White and family.

Mrs. Edson Rummell, Sheridan avenue, Mrs. Miller Henley, Centennial street, and Mrs. M. B. Keith of Sett. Kanella Koulouris of Brooklyn.

When the first news report came from Berlin, telling of the coming first marriage of a WAC in Germany to Capt. Carl G. Schultz of Chicago, Mrs. Schultz could not be reached.

She had heard only a week before from her husband, who told her he was going on to the Pacific, and that her allotment was being continued. It must be she thought, a similarity in names.

At the home where she lives with her husband's family, Mrs. Schultz said:

"I certainly hope this is all a mixup and that the Captain Schultz in the case is not my husband. It's too fantastic to be otherwise. My husband must have gone out of his mind. I've got to stop him."

Berlin Marriage Report Is Puzzle

Chicago Woman Clings To Hope That There Is Mixup In Name Of Groom

CHICAGO, July 28—(INS)—Pretty, dark-haired Mrs. Ruth Schultz clings to the hope today that there are two army captains named Carl G. Schultz in Berlin, and that the one who plans to marry a WAC is not her husband.

But her father-in-law, Capt. Carl E. Schultz, revealed today that he has known for weeks that his son, a member of the First Airborne Division, is planning to wed in the German capital despite the fact he has a wife and two children in Chicago.

The Army newsmen said that the officer who wrote two editorials upbraiding "brass hats" for enforcing rigid regulations governing uniforms, salutes and conduct was suspended from further work on the "Stars and Stripes".

Two Suspended

Two other officers, said the Army writers, were suspended temporarily from their duties as supervisors but were later reinstated.

A reported shake-up on the "Stars and Stripes" staff was the latest development in the undclared "war" raging between the Army newspaper and occupation officers.

The Army newsmen said that since the end of the European war occupation officers have been insisting on "spit and polish" discipline.

Last week-end a "Stars and Stripes" editorial took cognizance of this struggle and pointed out that rank-and-file soldiers might lose respect for officers and their pride in the Army if high-ranking men continued abusing the authority of command.

No Substitute For Newspapers

On the basis of two cross-section surveys made during the recent strike by newspaper deliverymen in New York City, Fact Finders Associates has reported that a large majority of the public is convinced that there is "no adequate substitute" for newspapers. It cites figures to prove that its conclusion is well-founded.

One survey was made from July 3 to July 5, when the strike was only a few days old. Interviewers asking whether the radio was completely failing the need for news, got a negative answer from 76.6 per cent of those questioned. That in itself was revealing, indicating that more than three out of four New Yorkers recognized that they were not satisfied with the news diet provided by radio stations.

But it is even more interesting that this feeling became more acute and more widespread as time went on. The second survey, made July 11-12, showed that the public felt the lack of its newspapers even more keenly after having been forced to do without them for nearly two weeks. The percentage of those who felt that the radio was not meeting their wants rose to 89.2, which means that nine out of ten persons placed themselves in this category.

The ratio might have risen still higher if the strike had lasted longer. But the point worth noting is that radio newscasts actually lost ground with the public as time went on. To those who have predicted the decline of the newspaper the facts should be enlightening.

Welcome Lather

Good news on the soap front comes in the revelation that a shipment of copra from the Philippine Islands is en route to the United States. It is the first since the Japs took over three and a half years ago.

Copra is dried coconut meat, from which coconut oil is derived. In addition to its basic use for soap, copra is of strategic importance as a rich source of glycerine for use in explosives. Before the end of the year government officials believe 50,000 tons will be obtained from the Philippines.

This start in the relief of the nation's fat shortage is the first tangible economic result of American victories in the Pacific. FEA representatives now in the Philippines are also trying to determine what will be needed to rehabilitate the islands' sugar industry, which before the war provided 15 per cent of the United States supply.

Teaching Our Enemies

There seems to be a plan under way whereby forces from the United States Army would be in Germany to teach Germans the American way of life. It may remind some Americans of the period, early in the present century, when "German culture" was so highly esteemed in this country that American college students used to go to Germany in large numbers to get more closely in touch with German life and thought.

The Germans seem to have changed since then. The tables have turned to a remarkable degree. But will Germans of the Nazi type now change again, and deign to accept our American culture as we once accepted theirs? They may profess conversion to our democracy and free way of life, as so many of their predecessors did when they came here half a century ago. Military defeat may have given them a new viewpoint. But it is hard to tell.

In any case, it isn't likely that they will be allowed to migrate again to America in large numbers, for a long time to come.

Jeep Hired Hand

Probably it would be well to finish Japan before this particular debate starts, but a reasonable answer to the question, "Who won the war?" would be, "The Jeep." Certainly the versatile little blitz buggy deserves a large share of the credit for making the American Army the most notorious in history.

Like other veterans, it soon will be coming home from the wars and a lot of people are concerned about readjusting it to civilian life. One manufacturer advertises hopefully, "There's a jeep in your postwar future." The theory is that a go-anywhere vehicle will come in handy for fishing trips or bringing the cows in from the back forty.

The real opportunity for the postwar jeep is on the farm. An observer tells of a demonstration of a reconverted jeep that plows, harrows, cuts hay, runs a combine or a threshing machine and combines all the basic functions of a tractor, light trucks mobile power unit and passenger conveyance.

All that should make it a useful gadget to have around, but it is hardly enough for a mechanical millennium. After all, a jeep still cannot pitch hay, chew tobacco, tell stories, clean out the barn or milk a cow. Until it can, the hired man is here to stay.

Big News Breaking

Announcement of Britain's election returns, showing defeat for Churchill's Conservative party, coming simultaneously with pleas for easier peace terms by the Tokyo radio, are indications that events are moving apace on the world news front.

Defeat of the Churchill government, while not unexpected by political experts, came as a shock to those who took it for granted that the man who steered the British Empire through its most perilous days would receive the approbation of his country.

But it was clear that Churchill expected no such outcome of the elections. He went through the motions of attending the Potsdam conference almost perfunctorily. He was strangely silent and the old Churchill fire was lacking. Likewise, since the fall of Germany, Churchill's interest in the war in the Pacific seems to have waned. He seemed to sense that he could no longer rely on the British people to back him.

Events in England pose new decisions for the United States. A new government will be in power in London. What its attitudes toward problems as they arise will be only the future can reveal.

In Tokyo, the war lords seem to be in the deepest travail. They would like to discuss peace terms. They are squirming for a way out that will not involve personal extermination. Their extremity reveals Japan's proximity to defeat. Whether the Tokyo government will prefer unconditional surrender to wreckage and misery not yet approached in the Jap homeland remains to be seen.

If the Victory Garden isn't paying dividends by this time, it never will.

Japs say they have plenty of scrap iron from their damaged cities, with more becoming available daily.

We don't know what "dovishionist" activities can be except that at a pace heretofore unknown to us something by which 16 Poles history. Down out of the trees and can conceivably undermine the into caves in three years, is nice mighty Red army.—Detroit News. (going.—Detroit News.)

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Attlee And Churchill

Entirely Opposites

WASHINGTON, July 28.—If you looked the wide world over, it would be hard to find two men more opposite in every respect than Prime Minister Churchill and the leader of the Labor Party, Clement Attlee, Churchill's successor.

Clem, as his circle of intimates in the party call him, is reserved, inarticulate, literal, somewhat suspicious, cautious, essentially a party man. He is entirely lacking in the color which has made Winston Churchill a world figure.

Can See Parallel

Without straining it to far, you can see a certain parallel in the Roosevelt-to-Truman and the Churchill-to-Attlee successions. If President Truman is in many ways a typical American, Attlee is in certain ways a typical Britisher of the average middle class.

He is a thorough family man with a house in the suburbs. Almost his only luxury is to rusticate there on the weekends, a privilege more often than not denied to him during the past crowded decade.

Clem Attlee makes a poor impression on strangers. When he first visited this country, in 1941 for a meeting of the International Labor office, someone in the British embassy arranged for me to talk with him. It was to be a background talk for help in a profile of the man that I was putting together.

He sat in the overstuffed living room of a hotel suite in New York looking ill at ease, on the table beside him was a great basket of fruit under cellulose. Somehow, he managed to look as though he were under cellulose too.

I put a few tentative questions. He answered in monosyllables.

"Are you sure this isn't an interview?" he asked suddenly. "I'm afraid it is an interview."

Abruptly he left the room.

Party Split

The analogy with Truman extends to the respective parties that the two men lead. If the Democratic party is split roughly to the left and right, so is the Labor party. And the split is almost as bitter in some respects as that between the southern and the labor wings of the Democratic party in this country.

Attlee, Herbert Morrison, Ernest Bevin and Hugh Dalton represent a labor bureaucracy accustomed to responsibility both within the trade union movement and in government. Most of the top party men who have majority control were members of the Churchill coalition government that had prosecuted the war.

Pressing the leaders from the left are such men as Aneurin Bevan, the stormy Welshman who began life as a pit boy in the mines; Harold Laski, the professor of economics whose firework brilliance brightens run-of-the-mill Laborites; and George Russell Strauss, member of parliament whose wealth has helped to keep the left wing opposition going.

How much of this sweeping victory can the left wing of British labor claim? The answer to that will determine how much representation these fierce oppositionists have in the new labor cabinet. If they contributed mightily to the victory, as they seemingly have then a century ago. Military defeat may have given them a new viewpoint. But it is hard to tell.

In any case, it isn't likely that they will be allowed to migrate again to America in large numbers, for a long time to come.

Reason for Defeat

They are for pushing socialization hard—for carrying out immediately the party's pledge to socialize natural resources and basic industries with a large element of public interest. Within the right wing years of responsibility and office holding enforce greater caution.

Then there was the abstemious prof or who was so engrossed in writing a treatise he forgot to go to the hospital to wait for the birth of a child. While he was still hard at work his secretary came in and told him he was the father of a baby boy.

The Germans seem to have changed since then. The tables have turned to a remarkable degree. But will Germans of the Nazi type now change again, and deign to accept our American culture as we once accepted theirs? They may profess conversion to our democracy and free way of life, as so many of their predecessors did when they came here half a century ago. Military defeat may have given them a new viewpoint. But it is hard to tell.

In any case, it isn't likely that they will be allowed to migrate again to America in large numbers, for a long time to come.

By EDGAR A. GUEST

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC Time was (was it really so long ago?)

A two-hour trip on a ship we made

To an island group where the pine trees grow

And the parson handled the games we played

We carried our lunches in baskets wide

And ate as a group at the river side

Oh, the hard-boiled eggs and the salad jar

And the salt and pepper and forks and knives

And the sugared cookies which are needed are

To gladden and sweeten children's lives!

Oh, the jelly roll and the cake and pie

Of that picnic basket of years gone by

Oh, the baseball game twixt the married men

And the single ones, and the races run

And the legs and arms that were aching when

The ship pulled out and the day was done

Whatever befalls the Japs, they like that

It's the Sunday school picnic still

When I was taking my turn at bat

New Job Is Real Test For Vinson

WASHINGTON, July 28.

IN THE LAST few months Mr. Fred Vinson, the new Secretary of the Treasury, has galloped so fast through so many important posts, all requiring high administrative ability—Economic Stabilizer, Mobilization Director, Federal Loan Administrator, that there has been no way of estimating his capacity. As pointed out in a previous column this is hardly conducive to the national interests and borders on the absurd.

PERHAPS, now that he is in a job promising some degree of permanency, there may be an opportunity for him to make a record, either good or bad. He has not had a chance to do either in any of his recent positions, and there is nothing in his past career upon which to base a real judgment. All one can say is that he has gone from one government office to another with greater speed than anyone else in American history, and has finally landed in the Treasury at a time when its problems are unprecedentedly big.

SO FAR AS two pretty big problems are concerned, Mr. Vinson is fortunate in that the machinery for handling them was set up by his predecessor and all he has to do is operate it along the lines laid down. One of these machines is the war loan organization, which has successfully functioned through even great loans and undoubtedly will do the same for the eighth if such becomes necessary. The other is the machinery for investigating tax evasions of the last four years and for pursuing tax evaders.

Some months ago Mr. Morgenthau professed himself shocked by the manner and extent of the cheating going on. He asked authority and funds with which to act. He obtained both and made full arrangements for a real campaign.

THIS IS AN important matter. It is greatly to Mr. Morgenthau's credit that he uncovered the situation, vigorously called national attention to it, and prepared vigorous efforts to correct it. It is intolerable that with the country engaged in its greatest war and its agencies, particularly the Treasury—overburdened, demoralized and undermined, must should take advantage of government's inability to examine the returns as in the pre-war period to enrich themselves at the expense of the nation by dodging payment of taxes. This is one of the means of putting off the day of reckoning.

Things work out. Dry cleaners appear everywhere at about the time when the emancipated wife goes to press the old man's pants.

A man applying for a job as signaller at a railroad crossing was quizzed thoroughly.

What would you do if you saw two trains coming head-on?

I would give a signal with this sign.

What if you couldn't find the sign?

I'd blow my whistle for a signal.

Charges Petain Withdrew French From North Africa

Michel Clemenceau Testifies That
By Action

PARIS, July 28.—(INS)—Michel Clemenceau, son of the late famed "Tiger of France" Georges Clemenceau, charged in court today that Marshal Henri Philippe Petain withdrew the last two French divisions from North Africa, leaving that area defenseless.

Clemenceau, displaying some of the fire of his father—the man who wanted a "hard peace" for Germany after World War I—was a dramatic witness in the sixth day of Petain's trial on charges of treason and collaboration.

He described Paul Reynaud, former prime minister, and his minister of the interior, Georges Mandel, as Germany's chief enemies within France and declared:

"Surrendered To Germans."

"Petain surrendered them to the Germans."

Clemenceau said that his own first doubts about Petain arose at the time of Munich.

"In 1940 I wrote Petain a letter stating I forbid any members of your government to make use of my father's name," he said.

Voice choked with emotion, Clemenceau declared:

"All my father were of this world, he would be the first to beat his breast. It was my father who made Petain a marshal. He would regret it!"

At this outburst Jacques Isgrini, one of Petain's defense counsels, leaped to his feet and shouted that although he himself had "opened the door" for the witness Clemenceau, the witness "should not attempt to enter testimony from the dead."

Throughout Clemenceau's testimony today the jurors were extremely attentive, plying him with many questions and generally interrupting the delivery of the witness' statements.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

well-behaved and gets along nicely with people. But my sisters are getting in my hair. Now, should I make her settle down to being a lady?

"I am about at the end of the rope, for my sisters are at me all the time saying if I don't make her take an interest in her appearance now she will get worse as she gets older. But my argument is that since she doesn't go to school or any other activities without looking neat and clean, I have nothing to worry about. She belongs to Girl Scouts and sings in the church junior choir. My neighbor says I am very foolish to let my sisters worry me.

"Am I doing right or wrong? We have been so happy until I began to worry. She has got a laughing face and gets so much fun out of everything."

Here is how I answered her. I agree entirely with your husband and you do, too, when you use the sense you were born with. Don't you know that your sisters are not the mother of your daughter? Let them stay in their own hair and mind their own business and not rob you and your daughter of wholesome happiness and her best education. The more of a tomboy she is now, the finer lady she is likely to be at seventeen.

Voice choked with emotion, Clemenceau declared:

"All my father were of this world, he would be the first to beat his breast. It was my father who made Petain a marshal. He would regret it!"

At this outburst Jacques Isgrini, one of Petain's defense counsels, leaped to his feet and shouted that although he himself had "opened the door" for the witness Clemenceau, the witness "should not attempt to enter testimony from the dead."

Throughout Clemenceau's testimony today the jurors were extremely attentive, plying him with many questions and generally interrupting the delivery of the witness' statements.

Attempt To Belittle
Surrender Demand
Is Made By Tokyo

NEW YORK, July 28.—(INS)—Tokyo newspapers made desperate attempts today to belittle the American-British-Chinese proclamation demanding the unconditional surrender of Japan.

The Domesi agency said the proclamation was given front page display and termed "propaganda," an act of "intimidation," a "crafty move" and "ridiculous."

The Japanese agency also reported that Tokyo papers printed the results of the British election on the front pages. Earlier the Domesi broadcast a propaganda dispatch saying the elections showed the British more interested in reconstruction than a "bloody, costly" war in the Far Pacific.

Japanese Cities Laid In Ruins By Superfort Raids

Total Area Damage To 46 Jap Cities
Stands At 150 Square Miles

GUAM, July 28.—(INS)—The total urban industrial area damage of 46 Japanese cities now stands at more than 150 square miles as the result of shattering Superfort incendiary and explosive bomb loads.

An official announcement issued today at air force headquarters on Guam said that the latest reconnaissance photographs of the Japanese homeland shows the recently-sacked cities of Durui, Kuwana, and Tsuruga as nearly completely destroyed.

The population of these cities, whose incinerated areas average 41 per cent in their built-up sections, was estimated officially to total more than 18,000,000 persons or about one-quarter of the population of the entire Japanese homeland.

Durui is 84 per cent destroyed, Kuwana 84 per cent, and Tsuruga 68 per cent.

Plan To Force Action On Merger

Advocates Of Merger Of Army And Navy Departments To Seek Early Action

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(INS)—Senate champions of an army and navy department merger today mapped plans to force legislative action next fall or early winter.

"We do not need to wait until the end of the war," said Sen. Lester Hill, Alabama, Democratic whip, and author of a merger bill. "By next fall things will be so settled in the Pacific that we can go ahead."

President Truman may be asked to give the legislation a boost. At any event, it is planned to hold hearings before the Senate military affairs committee.

Working On Details

A war department committee which has been studying the proposal during the war, is now working on details of a plan for creation of a single department of armed forces which Secretary of War Stimson has endorsed.

While the navy thus far has opposed legislation, it was reported that navy heads may oppose a coordination of the armed forces as a substitute for merger.

Sen. Hill said that he strongly hoped that by the time the Senate convenes in October, after a recess both war and navy departments will be ready to endorse specific legislation.

"Of course, nothing would be done in congress which would interfere in the slightest with the conduct of the war," he said.

TOWER OF HIGHEST NEW YORK BUILDING STRUCK BY PLANE

for the Buffalo (N. Y.) Courier Express.

Deering was blown out of an 80th floor window and landed on a ledge on the 72nd floor.

Thousands who at first thought the 1250-foot, 102-story Empire State Building was being bombed, surrounded the base of the structure for blocks around.

Scores of ambulances, physicians from hospitals, physicians from neighboring offices and nurses rushed to the scene.

"Front-line hospitals" were hurriedly set up in the lower floors and the lobby as the injured began to be taken down.

James W. Irwin, management consultant and former managing editor of the Chicago-Herald-American was sitting in his 75th floor office when he heard the plane coming.

The vast system of motor carriers was taken over by ODT at the direction of President Truman when labor disturbances disrupted truck transportation in Chicago and the surrounding area. The original seizure order was issued May 23.

A second seizure order, issued June 15, extended government control to all motor carriers in the Chicago area which had labor agreements with the Chicago Truck Drivers, Chauffeurs and Helpers Union, or the Teamsters Brotherhood.

The plane came down-head-on, not more than 400 feet away, directed almost at the windows to my private office," he said.

"It was descending only a few degrees—in other words not quite in level flight—but the engines were full-on. I sailed out of my office into the main hallway. Just as I reached the hallway, the plane struck a few floors directly above me.

The hallway was filled with blazing high octane gasoline not more than 100 feet where I landed. The shock of the plane striking the building was similar to an earthquake or the explosion of a big shell."

Irwin said a young woman elevator operator was buried from her car just as she opened the door at the 75th floor and was thrown with terrific force against an opposite wall.

It took about 20 minutes for the first firemen to reach the upper stories since they had to walk up scores of flights.

Hit With Terrific Force

The bomber, out of the army air base at New Bedford, Mass., struck the building with such a terrific impact that part of it ripped through and out the other side.

It ripped out 50 feet of walls on the 75th floor, skidded through a 100-foot corridor from 34th to 33rd Street and rammed a huge hole on the 33rd Street side of the tower.

The 75th floor of the building was a shambles. Everything in the way of the plane was completely destroyed—desks, office furniture and the like. One propeller was imbedded in a concrete casing.

Maj. Gen. Frank G. D. Hunter, commander officer of the First Air Force, announced that the bomber carried a crew of three, all of whom were missing. They are Lt. Col. W. F. Smith, Jr., and an unidentified mechanic.

Bound To Newark

The plane was bound for Newark airport. The pilot reported to La Guardia field at 9:45 a. m., asking for weather conditions.

He was informed that Newark had a ceiling of 900 feet and visibility of one and a quarter miles, although La Guardia had a ceiling of 1,100 feet and visibility of five miles.

The pilot said he wanted to land at Newark. The control tower at La Guardia warned him a few minutes before the crash that the Empire tower could not be seen through the mist and cautioned him to fly according to the regulations.

The Airways Traffic control said 1,500 to 2,000 feet was the minimum according to the regulations. The plane was only 913 feet from the ground when it struck.

NASTURTIUMS

Nasturtiums are very pretty flowers. They are easy to grow and keep blooming for a long time.

Did you know that they are good to eat? They have a peculiar spicy taste which many people like.

The leaves of flowers or both may be put in sandwiches or used in a salad.

They provide some of the things which we need in our diet.

Variety seems to help the appetite sometimes. If Margie doesn't like lettuce, try nasturtiums or endive or peas. As she gets older her appetite will change some too.

Variety is the spice of life.

Nasturtiums are spicy. If you don't like to eat them, put one in your buttonhole and cheer up.

Government Control Of Transportation In Chicago Ended

President Advises Senate That Agreements Will Not Be Submitted
As Treaties

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(INS)

The ODT today announced termination of possession and control of the private and public motor carrier transportation systems in Chicago and vicinity effective at 12 m. August 1.

The action was taken after Ellis T. Longnecker, federal manager of the seized lines, had recommended that government control be terminated.

Longnecker reported to ODT Director J. Monroe Johnson that the labor disturbances which led to federal seizure "had largely subsided."

The vast system of motor carriers was taken over by ODT at the direction of President Truman when labor disturbances disrupted truck transportation in Chicago and the surrounding area.

Mr. Truman's statement, sent from Potsdam, was transmitted to McKellar by Acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew. Grew also sent a copy to Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

CARDINALS AGAIN
DEFEAT PIRATES

By LES CONKLIN
(International News Service Sport Writer)

NEW YORK, July 28.—Fishermen mourn about the big one that got away, horse players will tell you that their losing tag really is pounds the best, and baseball pitchers hate to lose a well-pitched game.

Ferris Beaten

For the second time this season Dave Ferris, 17-game winner of the Boston Red Sox, couldn't get beyond an eight-game winning streak. The Boston infielders tried for a couple of force plays in the eighth inning which would have given the freshman star a shutout victory over Washington. But both plays missed and the Nats won 3 to 1.

Russ Christopher, the towering "Thin Man" of the Philadelphia Athletics, held the Yanks to four hits and struck out 12 men to set a season's mark in the American League. But errors by his mates gave the game to New York, 2 to 0, behind Fove Bevens' five-hitter.

Johnny Humphries of the Chicago White Sox had even worse luck. He held Detroit to three hits, but one of them was a Homer by Eddie Mayo in the ninth which gave Hal Newhouser a 1 to 0 verdict.

Another hard-luck kid was Big Bill Voiselle of the New York Giants. Bill blanketed the Phillies until Vince DiMaggio's 15th Homer, coming with a man on base in the seventh, won 2 to 0. Oscar Judd held the Giants to three hits.

Cards Trip Bucs

Voiselle had a companion in misery in Preacher Roe of the Pirates. Roe held the Cardinals to three hits but Buster Adams' Homer with a man on base in the seventh won for St. Louis, 2 to 0. The Bucs also got only three hits off Blix Donnelly.

An eighth-inning double by Dixie Walker, which outfielder Gilpinwater dropped after a long run, gave Brooklyn a 3 to 2 win over the Boston Braves.

A single by Peanut Lowry in the tenth enabled the Chicago Cubs to beat Cincinnati's Bucky Walters, 2 to 1.

Steve Gromek racked up his 12th win for Cleveland in beating the St. Louis Browns, 3 to 1.

Before the war, out of the average 2,200,000 births in a year in the United States, about 1,500,000 children were born at home.

DeCarbo Bombers
Win First-Half

Playoff Game At Marshall Field Friday Draws 2,000 Fans, Score 5-0

LIPOSKY PITCHES
SENSATIONAL GAME

W. F. DeCarbo Bombers softball team won the first-half championship in the Industrial softball league last night at Marshall field before over 2,000 fans, the largest to ever see a softball game in New Castle, by white-washing the Lockley Machines 5 to 0 behind the sensational pitching and batting of the veteran, Francis Liposky.

Liposky had the Lockleys at his mercy all night, giving them but four hits and keeping them from the platter. Besides pitching a superb game all the way, Liposky batted in all the DeCarbo runs, in the third inning he tripped with two men on and then stole home, and drove in the other two runs, one in the first and one in the fifth with sacrifice flies.

Liposky Whole Show

Liposky was simply the whole show last night. He is deserving of the plaudits. In defeat Bob Pascarella stood out, pitching a six-hitter but in the pinches did not have the stuff. Daniels played a great fielding game for the Bombers, to aid in the victory and Manager "Tip" Richards helped Liposky to a shut-out by spearing a hard hit liner tagged for a Homer by Stubs Dwyer in the ninth.

Best for the Lockleys was the hitting of McConnell, Lutz and Emrick. President Joe Factor of the Industrial softball league wishes to thank the fans for their support in the first-half and thanks the players for their fine sportsmanship and cooperation in making the first-half a big success.

Further Reductions In Ration Values On Meat Expected

WASHINGTON, July 28—(INS)—Further reductions in ration point values on beef, veal and lamb during September were indicated today in view of expected seasonal increases in marketing of cattle and sheep in that period.

This would be in addition to the cuts of one and two points a pound ordered by the Office of Price Administration of these meats for August.

It is unlikely, however, that as of present conditions the September downward adjustment will equal the point-free period ordered in the fall of 1944 on utility grade beef and the lowered ration values on other types of meat.

Pork will continue scarce during September due to lower hog production. It is not probable that the OPA will reduce ration points on pork cuts in that month. More pork will be available next spring when this fall's pig crop is sent to market.

Overall meat production this year, agriculture department officials point out, is below that of 1944 when heavy flows of animals glutted many packing centers and resulted in ample supplies for civilians.

Sgt. Robert Davids Is Reported Killed

Grandson Of Mrs. Margaret Vogan,
Of Crawford Avenue, With Whom He Lived Is Notified

Mrs. Margaret Vogan, of South Crawford avenue, has received word that the War Department has announced officially that Sgt. Robert H. Davids, aged 21 years, of Geneva, N.Y., who had previously been reported as missing in action over France on July 10, 1944, has now officially declared lost in action.

Sgt. Davids, first engineer and turret gunner of a B-17, was on a bombing mission over La Passonniere, France, near Angers, when his plane disappeared. Nothing has been seen or heard of the crew since that day.

He is the son of Mrs. Joseph Davids, his father having preceded him in death.

Bodies Of Six Crew Members Recovered

MONROE, La., July 28—(INS)—

The bodies of six of the 13 crew members who crashed in a C-47

training plane 20 miles northeast of Tampa, Fla., have been recovered and identified, Selman Field officials said today.

Air force officials said the fate of the other seven crew men still was undetermined.

Those identified included Aviation Cadet Richard V. McClellan, 22, (159 Hamilton Ave.) Vandergrift, Pa.; Aviation Cadet Thomas B. Lloyd, 19, Springfield, O., and Aviation Cadet Peter P. Nefuk, 22, Campbell, O.

Brothers Serve In World Wars I & II

World wars are coming mighty close together when brothers fight in two different ones. This is what has happened in the family of Mrs. Harriet McKinnis of 420 Fern street.

She is the mother of Iris McKinnis of Butler, who saw active duty in World War I in France for seven months, and also of Pvt. John McKinnis of the Army in World War II, now stationed at Indiana town Gap.

Mrs. McKinnis also has in service with the armed forces five grandsons and one granddaughter. Pvt. John McKinnis arrived at his home here Friday evening on furlough.

On especially constructed decks

500 tankers carried some 12,000 assembed planes overseas in 1944, in addition to their cargoes of petroleum.

American homes are the location of more than half the fires in the country.

Pfc. Harold Ramsey Back From Orient

Pfc. Harold P. Ramsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ramsey of 713 Cumberland avenue, has just returned after 39 months of service in the China-Burma-India theater.

After a 30-day furlough he will report to San Antonio, Tex., for reassignment.

His brother, Capt. Kenneth E. Ramsey, has just concluded a 30-day furlough and taken up his new duties at Albuquerque, N. M. He served overseas as a mechanic in the eighth air force in England for 29 months.

UPSET PRICES

Twenty properties have been placed upon a list to be sold at an "upset price" sometime in the future.

The commissioners have selected the properties for sale in order to get them back upon the tax lists. The upset price consists of all taxes, penalties and interest.

Usually no body bids them in at the upset price and they are then sold at public bid, which liquidates all liens or mortgages against the properties.
